Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The President in his address before the Navy League Monday evening reiterated his determination to stand no more nonsense from Germany on the sea. The navy will shoot on sight. Well, we knew that already. We believe that nine out of ten Americans approve this order to the Navy. The only new item was his rebuke to John L. Lewis, and the implicit threat contained therein. The President lugged in the small minority of industrialists who are trying to make money out of this emergency. It is possible, of course, that there are such industrialists, still wearing their horns, hooves and hides, as contrasted with the many whose outer teguments adorn the New Deal's barn door. But it is good policy, at least good Rooseveltian policy, to pair evil doers, a rich 'un and a poor 'un, so to speak. It makes for a balance which the President dearly loves for reason of politics.

But there was an implied threat that if John L. Lewis and his coal miners continue their obstruction of the defense progrom, especially such a vital part of it as steel making, the President will do something about it. That we think, was the high point in his Monday night's talk.

First the President had written two appeals to John L. Lewis to put his miners back to work. Twice Lewis had refused. The last time he gave a bolony excuse, having to do with J. P. Morgan. He implied the President was leaning toward favoritism for the great bogey man of the radicals. That must have been a bit nettling, but the President a third time appealed to Lewis to call off his miners strike, pending mediation. At this writing, nothing doing. We doubt not that the Lewis ego is greatly expanded by this thrice repeated appeal on the part of the President of 130 million people, to the president of a union, of perhaps a million men. Lewis the poor boy who rose from grimy depths of a coal mine to be a dictator to a half million of his fellow men, cannot help but be flattered, no end.

Whether the President should have thus singled out Lewis for this distinction, is a question that need not trouble us too much. If he really intends to crack down at last upon the truculent Lewis, these three appeals will have been a warning to which he can point in his memoirs. But if he does not do something after Monday night's implied promise that he would, John L. Lewis, the toad, will swell to the size of the ox. There will be no living with him, so far as the New Deal is concerned. For to a man such as Lewis the defense of his country is as nothing compared to gathering and holding power over his fellow men.

So we think that the President, this time, after attracting the national spotlight to himself and John L. Lewis, is almost certain to do something about the coal strike. Personally we had rather the President had cracked down on the coal strike leaders first and talked about it afterward. Like a lot of other people, just as Welles said of the Japanese, we are not too much concerned with words, but are mightily concerned with actions.

The President did not say what he would do, in case Lewis did not call off his strike and permit the Mediation Board to continue its work. To thoughtful persons that omission is important. The President's emergency powers are only a little less than those of a President in war time. He could, as has been suggested, appeal to the coal miners over Lewis' head, but if they did not respond promptly that would rather enhance the power of Lewis. He would loom larger than ever, much to the discomfiture of the President.

And, Lewis probably has the power to enforce his will upon the miners. In every local council, local union headquarters, we have not a doubt in the world, that Lewis has his stooges, his whip weilders, who would see to it that the penalty for disobeying his orders would far outweigh any patriotic impulse they might feel to respond to the President's appeal. We doubt if the President would chance an appeal of this kind.

Probably the quickest and safest way to affect resumption of coal mining, would be to throw troops into the coal regions, and offer protection to all miners who wish to return to work. For we do believe that this inarticulate mass of hundreds of thousands of coal miners, would really prefer to work in the mines for their country's defense, rather than starve in order to build the stature of John L. Lewis.

KEYNOTES RED CROSS APPEAL

Frances Fedden, attractive Bronxville, N. Y., artist's model, is the 1941 Red Cross poster girl. Thousands of posters like the one pictured above have been distributed throughout the country calling attention to this year's Roll Call membership appeal. Painted by Bradshaw Crandell, prominent New York illustrator, the poster carries a national defense theme, portraying the active part being taken by the Red Cross in serving the armed forces.

CANTONMENT WOULD GREATLY INCREASE LOCAL BUSINESS

Jack Kaufman, secretary-manager of the Marysville District Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon today. He talked on the proposed cantonment which extends five miles into Nevada County's southern border and runs from the Yuba to Bear River.

Regarding any certainty whether the cantonment will be built or not, Mr. Kaufman could offer nothing but conjectures. Some of those connected with the present survey and planning of the tract have declared that never before has the War Department spent so much money, a quarter of a million dollars, in planning a cantonment, without completing it. Incidentally the preliminary plans must be completed by the middle of November.

The cantonment project on Nevada County's southern border was chosen first by a civilian board after it had looked over several other sites in Oregon, Washington, Utah and further north in California. They had spent two weeks at this job before coming here. Later on, early this spring, an army engineering board looked over the site. Originally there were two sites, one south of the Yuba and the other north. The general topography of the site south of the Yuba won the approval of the army engineers. Still later an artillery colonel surveyed the site ,and it was Mr. Kaufman's assumption that during the later consideration of the cantonment area, enough acreage was added to the original site to provide for an artillery range.

What the cantonment will mean to the community's on the rim of the cantonment, if and when established, Mr. Kaufmann sketched briefly. The effect will be both good and bad. Schools will have to be greatly enlarged, depending upon the number of men employed there. The police forces, and the sheriffs' personnel will naturally need to be greatly increased.

On the other hand, even during the construction period, business will be greatly benefited. The workmen will want all sorts of household goods, clothing and food. Whether in view of the priorities merchants will be able to supply this vast new need, is a question. In San Luis Obispo, where a cantonment of about 20,000 men is located, Mr. Kaufman found that individual businesses had increased from 2 to 8 times normal. Nevada City, he observed, should be able to reap a great harvest without a great deal of expense, in that its recreational areas, summer and winter, would become immensely popular almost overnight.

Whether or not, the cantonment, once established, would be permanent or not was a question, but Mr. Kaufman was inclined to think it would, because of the superior opportunities it offered for what is known in the army as triangular training, that is, artillery, mechanized forces and air forces, such, roughly as are coordinated in the German panzer divisions. When it came time to close down some of the cantonments, Mr. Kaufman believed that this one might be retained because of its superior advantages in these regards.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, October 27th has been designated as the beginning of a campaign for enlistments for our Navy, and

We call upon all patriotic young men in our community who are eligible for service to consider the extraordinary advantages offered by our Navy for enlistment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Cities of Nevada City and Grass Valley this the 27th day of October 1941.

Many Pay Last Respects Today To Late Alfred 'Fred' Sauvee

Final respects to one of Nevada City's most beloved residents — Alfred (Fred) Sauvee—were paid today by friends and relatives.

The funeral was held at the Holmes Funeral Home this afternoon with interment following in the Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. Carl Tamblyn of Marysville officiated at the funeral home rites and the Elks Lodge of this city had charge of the graveside services.

The death early Tuesday morning of Sauvee came as a sad shock to Nevada Cityans. His demise followed an operation at the Miners Hospital.

Sauvee several years ago retired from business here. For years he had assisted his father in the operation of the Ice Delivery Company and then upon his father's death operated the business with his brother, Alex. Shortly after Alex died, Fred relinquished the business to lead a life of retirement.

Sauvee took an active interest in civic and fraternal affairs. He was a member of the local Native Sons besides the Elks Lodge and was a charter member of the Rotary Club.

Sauvee was born in the Blue Tent district. He would have been 50 years of age on November 23rd.

The deceased was a veteran of the World War, serving over seas. In 1927 he married Miss Emma Clemo of Grass Valley. The couple were extremely devoted to each other.

Besides his wife, Sauvee leaves a sister, Mrs. Louis Moody of Nevada City. Also surviving are three uncles, Louis, Paul and Gene Brindejon.

Damage Suit Trial Is Held In Superior Court

Superior Judge George L. Jones has under advisement the $6,027 damage suit by Mike Cardoni and Dora Cardoni against H. E. Bolton.

The case was heard before Judge Jones this week. The suit filed by the Cardonis followed an asserted accident at the Bolton Store, then located on Pine Street. Mrs. Cardoni it was brought out in the trial by the plaintiff, suffered injuries when she fell down the stairs leading to the basement of the store.

Appraisal Work For Army Cantonment 88 Per Cent Complete, Quartermaster Says

Captain F. W. Fish, constructing quartermaster of the proposed army cantonment in Western Nevada and Eastern Yuba Counties, said the appraisal work has been completed.

Fish said the cantonment as a whole is nearly 88 per cent complete as to planning and engineering. Less than a month remains before the deadline for the completion of the plans.

Fish and his assistants, Lieutenants J. M. Barnes, R. L. Hubach and R. R. Waring were guests of the Grass Valley Rotary Club this week.

Fish said at this meeting that if Hitler defeats Russia he will be only twenty four hours from the United States and added:

"For that reason, while I cannot speak in official terms, I believe the cantonment will be built as quickly as possible."

Navy Seeks Small Town Sailor Boys

ADVERTISERS ASSIST IN CAMPAIGN FOR NAVAL RECRUITS

The U. S. Navy has learned from its experience of some 150 years that small town boys make the best sailors. Therefore the Navy is putting on the biggest campaign in its history to enroll boys and young men between the ages of 17 and 31 in the naval service.

This campaign is opened in the five Western States, and will presently spread to other states of the Union, in towns of 50,000 population or less. The Nevada City Nugget has been chosen as one of the newspapers to carry on this drive for sailors for a two-ocean Navy. Commander Paul Whiting, in charge of the national recruiting service states that 15,000 sailors are needed each month for several months to come to man the big fleets of the United States which now stand guard in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Each week new units slide down the ways of the country's shipyards and after being outfitted, are assigned their role in proecting this country from enemies on the high seas.

In the last issue of the Nugget, it was announced that Carl Ross of the Nugget staff had been appointed Navy Editor. He will be assisted by all members of the Nugget personnel in answering any questions asked by young men who have reached the age for enlistment in the United States Navy.

The Nugget has a limited number of pamphlets, issued by the Navy, which are entitled "Everything You Want to Know About Life in the U. S. Navy." Young men, boys, who have graduated from the high school or who are graduating this year, are invited to call and get one of these pamphlets.

We call attention to the many loyal and patriotic business men of Nevada City and Grass Valley, who with their advertisements are supporting the Nugget campaign for naval recruits. Their advertisements, each one setting forth some special advantage for young men offered in the naval service, will be found on the back page of this issue. They have used their space not to advertise their wares, or services, but to advertnse the Navy of the United States.

Bad Policy To Leave Keys In Automobile

The practice of leaving keys in your parked car is dangerous, Chief of Police Max Solaro today warned local motorists.

Solaro said leaving cars unlocked and the keys in may result in your car being stolen inasmuch as there seems to be a trend toward automobile stealing at the present time.

A few minutes after the car of Don Bluxome was reported stolen yesterday morning it was recovered in Grass Valley in front of the city hall.

During Tuesday night two cars were stolen in Grass Valley, bringing the total to four automobiles thefts recently.

THE BEAR OF OAKLAND

For centuries sailors have believed that some ships have conscious personalities. That belief must be strong among veterans when they speak of the Bear of Oakland. All California knows her. The ship was launched 67 years ago in Scotland. In 1884 the United States bought her for the rescue of the Greely Arctic expedition—and she drove through 1400 miles of ice pack to save the survivors.

Then she was placed in the California-Arctic operation of the U. S. revenue cutter service. For 45 years the Bear carried medicine, food, law and authority to the bitter Alaskan coast beyond the Bering straits. Nearly each year she was "lost" in the grinding packs of ice; but each year the scarred hull and dauntless heart made home port.

Yet the "end" came. In 1926 a brand new cutter was commissioned and the Bear was retired. She was given to Oakland for a nautical museum. Then the Byrd expedition neeed a real boat—a tough boat the admiral could trust, for his Anarctic expedition. And Admiral Byrd and the Bear simply drew together. Twice the Bear of Oakland carried explorers to the Anarctic—and brought them back.

Now Uncle Sam has troubles at sea. Last week word came that the ship that brought to Boston the Nazi radio operators picked up in Greenland was—the Bear. There are modern dangers unknown in the old rover's youth; torpedoes, submarines, dive bombers. But the oaken-ribbed veteran is in there for the duration. She's that sort of ship; the Bear of Oakland.

NO LUCK FOR THE WICKED

It might be called the case of the cops' convention.

Charles Hickin, ex-convict, stepped from a Sonoma County courtroom after conviction for forgery. He picked that instant to break free from three deputies and sprint down the street.

But down that street, blocking it from curb to curb, were 200 burly cops—just emerged from a Santa Rosa hotel after a convention dinner. Mr. Hickin's break ended right then and there.

There seems an editorial thought for the fireside here. We have long known that the way of the transgressor is hard. Now we know that the transgressor is also plumb out of luck.

NO TIME FOR THIS

Stern action by the government is in order in the so-called captive coal mine strike, which can better be described, perhaps, as a John L. Lewis strike against the defense of the United States.

The issue is clearcut: All but 5 per cent of the 53,000 laborers in the mines owned by the major steel companies belong to Lewis' United Mine Workers. Lewis is demanding a closed shop that will bring the other 5 per cent into the UMW.

With some steel furnaces already closing down. Lewis has defied all attempts of the president to settle the dispuite. He apparently would prefer to paralyze the whole defense program rather than give in.

If there were a question of wages, hours, working conditions, the right to bargain collectively, or some other such issue in this strike there might be grounds for argument, even though there still would be no excuse for a shutdown.

But this is a plain question of black-jacking men into joining a union, or of compelling their employers to force them to join, in order to increase the power and bargaining position of an already-powerful union. Lewis apparently would gladly scuttle the whole defense program in order to achieve this end.

The public has little sympathy for those who not only will refuse to make any sacrifices, but who actually will capitalize on the nation's present emergency by using it as an excuse to strongarm their way into a position of greater power.

This is a time when labor and capital must call a truce in their costly battle for advantages over one another. It certainly is no time for labor leaders to order strikes simply to demonstrate and increase their power, any more than it is a time for employers to engage in union-busting activities.

President Roosevelt spoke for every patriotic American when he bluntly told John L. Lewis:

"There is no reason for stoppage of work. It is essential that the mining of coal should go on without interruption."

Post Office Department Starts Nation Wide Defense Bond, Stamp Campaign

National defense bonds and savings stamps have been on sale through the post office and other agencies since May 1, 1941, with results thus far attained most encouraging. However, it is felt that there are millions of Americans who through no fault of their own have not been fully acquainted with all the features of the bond and stamp program.

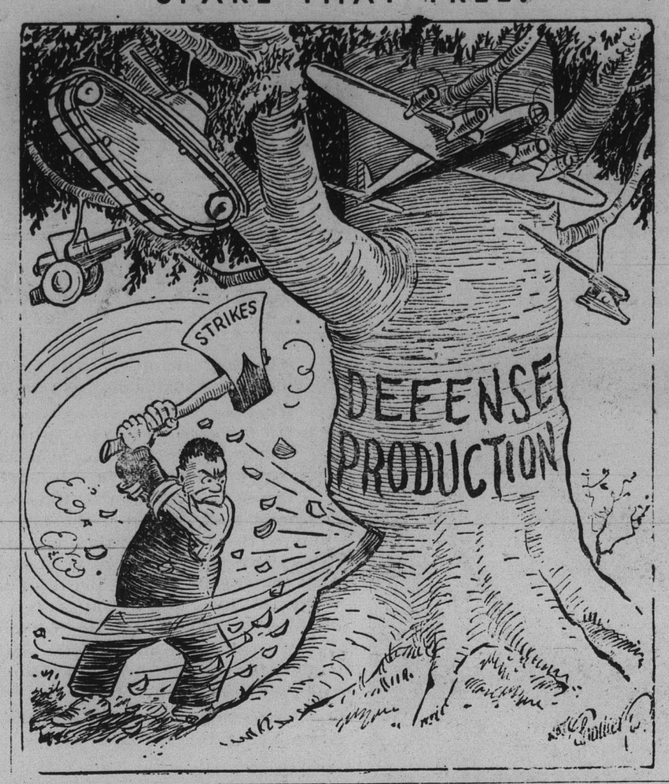
Not only do sales of defense bonds and stamps contribute vitally to our national defense and future security but there are also important advantages that accrue to bond and stamp purchasers in relation to their own investment and future financial security.

For this reason the post office department, in conjunction with the treasury department, is about to undertake a nation wide educational and informational program, designed to bring home to all Americans their responsibility in participating in the bond and stamp program and also the benefits that they personally will derive through the purchase of defense bonds and stamps. Mrs. Betty Martin West local postmaster is in charge of the program here.

INNIS DREDGE OPERATING

The installation of the Innis dredge on the Malakoff property in the North Bloomfield area has been completed and the dragline outfit is now working. The dredge was transported from Greenville to the Malakoff. It formerly worked on Deer Creek below Nevada City. A. B. Innis is in charge of operations.

SPARE THAT TREE!



FIRE RESTRICTIONS IN TAHOE NATIONAL FOREST AREA LIFTED

Acting Forest Supervisor E. L. Baxter of the Tahoe National Forest announced today that fire season has officially closed on all lands within the boundaries of the Tahoe National Forest. Recent rains have been sufficient to permit the lifting of all restrictions in force during the hot and dry summer months. Smoking will no longer be restricted to posted areas, campfire permits no longer are needed, shove and axe are not required in each car traversing the forest roads. Baxter cautioned, however that burning permits are needed until December 1 and can be secured from the various ranger headquarters or the Nevada City supervisor's office.

"The closing of the present fire season," Baxter stated, "concluded one of the best seasons on record. Going through a whole season with only 82 fires conclusively proves that forest users, residents, hunters, and campers are thoroughly fire conscious and keenly interested in the preservation of our natural resources."

Additional fire suppression crews were established on the forest during fire season as the result of a special congressional appropriation. This appropriation was made in view of the world wide situation and the potential loss due to sabotage and other fifth column work. Fires attacked quickly not only save the resources but eliminate the need for requisitioning fire fighters from private industry engaged in national defense.

J. D. Rafferty, Tahoe National Forest law enforcement officer, has returned to headquarters here after a two day stay in Truckee.

CHRISTMAS TREE THIEVES WARNED

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—(UP)—The state division of forestry today warned Californians that violators of the law prohibiting the cutting of Christmas trees without a permit would be punished.

Under the statute written permission must be obtained from owners of the land where the trees are removed, or from officials of national and state forests if taken from public property.

Instructions have been issued to state highway patrolmen and forest rangers to stop all motorists transporting Chrastmas trees either singly or by truckload, division of forestry officials said. The drivers will be required to disclose the source of their trees.

FOUR THOUSAND TAX BODIES IN CALIFORNIA

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—(UP)—Should a person wonder why his taxes are so high, leaving out national defense for the moment, it might be stated that in California alone, there are 5287 governmental units set up under the tax structure.

Included in the rather staggering total are the state government, 58 counties, 284 incorporated cities, 2533 elementary school districts, 266 high school districts, 39 unified school districts, 14 junior colleges districts, and at least 1094 special districts, the latter being hard to pin down because many do not report to any central office

An interesting contrast exists between San Francisco and Los Angeles on this matter of tax bodies. The northern city, second largest in population, has the smallest number of governmental units for the entire state with only two. The city and county government is under one administration and the schools are in a unified school district.

Here is the lineup for Los Angeles which has the largest number of units: 45 cities, 106 elementary, 20 high school, five unified school, four junior college districts, and 109 special districts, making a total of 390 units of government.

The problem is simplified in five counties where there are no incorporated cities, Alpine, Mariposa, Mono, Plumas and Trinity. There are more elementary school districts than one would imagine, such as 140 in Fresno county, 106 in Los Angeles, 107 in Sonoma, 98 in Humboldt and 95 in Tulare.

The emphasis on taxes in acute right now, by virtue of the unusual aspect of the state deficit being wiped out in the backwash of frenzied spending for national defense and buying of domestic supplies before priorities are clamped down. There is a sharp difference politically on whether taxes ought to be reduced now, when the budget is balanced, or not at all.

Governor Olson has taken a firm stand against any reduction at this time, while there is a deficit. He expressed himself as favoring wiping out the red ink, then building up a reserve fund as a cushion against the time when there may be unemployment from the stoppage of national defense work.

ENGINEER SEEKS TUNGSTEN ORE IN ORIENT

SINGAPORE, Oct. 29.—(UP)—The increasing demand for tungsten to carry on the United States defense program is sending Dr. Sam Hancock, San Bernardino, California, mining engineer, through six countries in search of additional supplies.

Dr. Hancock who arrived in Singapore recently, was sent to the Orient by Washington to purchase strategic materials and investigate the possibility of obtaining additional tungsten output for the United States from Malaya, Burma. The Shan States, China, southern Tibet and Iran, on a tour of thousands of miles through some of the most undeveloped country in the world.

At present the United States is purchasing almost the entire tungsten output of China. But the rapidly expanding American national defense program has made it necessary for the United States to find new sources of the strategic ore. Tungsten is used in ship building and the manufacture of all armaments and war materials in which steel is used. Only one per cent of tungsten is used to 99 per cent of steel. But the scarcity of tungsten ore is proportionate.

Most of the eastern output of tungsten, excepting China, is at present going to Great Britain, Dr. Hancock said. But it is believed Britain will soon release some of her own sources to the United States.

"Great Britain," Dr. Hancock declared, "is anxious that the United States get more tungsten."

Only a small trickle of tungsten is flowing from south China, Burma and the Shan States. Dr. Hancock's job will be to investigate the possibility of increasing production in these areas and giving technical advise to miners. He will also arrange for the transportation of the ore to ports where American ships can pick it up. At some points in Burma, where the strategic materials are brought for shipment, there are no port facilities. Ships anchored off shore and native barges are used to haul the ore out to the vessel. Dr. Hancock hopes to facilitate the export of the strategic materials to meet the call for speed in U. S. defense industries.

In Iran Dr. Hancock will study the possibility of developing Persian ore resources for export to the United States.

LIVESTOCK FAIR LISTS 22 STATES AND 120 ENTRIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Entries from all over Western America today had anchored the first annual Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo in the front rank of the country's domestic animal exhibit circuit.

With several days yet to go before entries close, more than 120 exhibitors from 12 states, among them many of the nation's foremost livestock breeders, already have entered 1640 show animils in the exposition, to be held in San Francisco's $2,500,000 "Cow Palace", November 15 to 22. These animals represent one of the great collections of high quality beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine ever to be assembled for a show of its kind. The entries released today do not include the approximately 400 show and rodeo horses scheduled for the program.

Entries of livestock have been received from California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois.

Reservations likewise have been made which assure the Grand National a horse show comparable with those of New York and Chicago. Announcement of the horse show entries will be made soon.

Meanwhile, the country is being scoured for the foremost rodeo performers and outlaw stock to assure San Francisco a "buckaroo" contest on a par with the Madison Square Garden Show, generally acknowledged the nation's No. 1 spectacle.

All this was announced today by George N. Kefston, president of No. 1-A District Agricultural Association, state agency sponsoring the Grand National, as the show organization went into high gear for the final preopening dash.

MRS. GUENTHER IN 92ND YEAR

Mrs. Mary Guenther, beloved elderly resident of this city, celebrated her 92nd birthday Tuesday.

Mrs. Guenther is bright and active for her age. She takes great interest in everything and delights in visits from friends and relatives. On her birthday she received many gifts, fowers and cards, besides visits from relatives and friends.

Twenty Per Cent More Deer Killed This Year In Truckee District

Approximately twenty per cent more deer were killed in the Truckee district of the Tahoe national forest this year than last year, according to figures compiled under the direction of District Ranger H. I. Snider.

There were also about twenty five per cent more hunters estimated in the field this year than last but the man days hunting effort were less by about thirty per cent, due probably to hunters having less time to hunt this year because of improved employment conditions.

Out of 464 deer antlers checked, 47 per cent were in the 2 pointed class, 23 per cent in 2 to 3 pointer class, 2 per cent in 3 to 4 pointer class, 4 per cent in the 4 to 5 pointer class, and only 1 per cent in the 5 to 6 pointer class, Snider states. There has been a greater percentage of the deer in the 2 to 4 pointed class the past few years which indicates that a greater number of available deer are being taken before they have a chance to become over four years old. Snider believes this is also indicative that such close hunting might render one buck limit per hunter more desirable in the not too distant future to reserve the proper ratio of bucks in the total deer population.

County Debt Payments $2.91 Per Capita

Payments for local government debt in Nevada County cost the people of the county an average of $2.91 per capita in 1939-40, study of interest and redemption payments in California counties, just made public by California Taxpayers association, shows.

Of this, the cities paid out $10,842, the school districts $36,972; county special and assessment district $8,339. The figure for county special and assessment districts is incomplete, it was stated, in some cases irrigation, reclamation, water, etc., districts not being included.

What's it got you haven't got in your present automobile?

HERE stands an automobile – the automobile, we believe, of 1942.

What's in it to lay claim on your attention? Well, among other things:

A valve-in-head engine – the same type of engine used in every modern airplane.

FIREBALL compression – specially contoured Domite pistons that wring more good out of every drop of gas.

Compound Carburetion† – a constant check and double check on gas usage to see that you get both power and range from the fuel you buy.

There are longer-lasting bearings, stouter connecting rods, broadrim wheels that steady the ride and deliver top tire mileage.

There's a torque-tube drive such as you find in America's fastest fighting planes, and soft, gentle all-coil springs that never need any mothering care.

There are ruggedness, dependability, frugal use of gas and oil, and as for life and action and ability – why not see for yourself?

In short – go try out this Buick and see why it is the automobile of 1942 – and your smartest buy considering the times.

No other car has ALL THIS FOR YOU IN '42

SPIRITUAL JOY

The angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. — New Testament. Luke 2:10.

What happiness is, the Bible alone shows clearly and certainly, and points out the way that leads to the attainment of it.—Coleridge.

Who that has felt the loss of human peace has not gained stronger desires for spiritual joy? The aspiration after heavenly good comes even before we discover what belongs to wisdom and love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The strength and the happiness of a man consists in finding out the way in which God is going, and going in that way, too.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Hapiness and virtue rest upon each other, the best are not only the happiest, but the happiest are usually the best.—Bulwer.

Every heart that has beat strong and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world, and bettered the tradition of mankind. —Stevenson.

—Catholic Church

Two masses will be celebrated at the St. Canice Catholic Church Sunday. The first mass will be at eight a. m. and the second at 10:30 a. m. Father Patrick O'Reilly and Edward Williams will conduct the services.

—Christian Science Society

The Christian Science Society in Nevada City holds services at 114 Boulder Street every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. A testimonial meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.." Those words from Proverbs comprise the golden text to be used Sunday.

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting," (Gal. 6: 7, 8.)

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The moral law, which has the right to acquit or condemn always demand restitution before mortals can go up higher. Broken law brings penalty in order to compel this progress. Truth bestows no pardon upon error, but wipes it out in the most effectual manner," (p. 11).

READ HOW YOU TOO CAN BECOME AN EXPERT IN AVIATION, RADIO OR ENGINEERING AND DRAW GOOD PAY WHILE YOU LEARN!

IF YOU WANT to get ahead fast, to serve your country, to build yourself a good-paying future . . . here's the opportunity you've been waiting for.

The U. S. Navy may train you to become an expert in any one of nearly 50 skilled fields. This first year's training which you get is worth at least $1500.

The Navy foots the entire bill. You earn while you learn. In fact, it is possible for an enlisted man to earn up to $126 per month—with keep.

You'll have plenty of opportunity for advancement in position and pay—and you'll have fun while you learn! You'll come out of the Navy fully prepared to take on a good job in private industry. And if you want to stay in the Service, you can go right to the top . . . and retire at the end of 20 years or 30 years with a liberal monthly income.

You can choose now between the regulars or the reserves. Both offer equal opportunities for advancement.
